SADLER LAW FIRM EXPANDS LEGAL COVERAGE TO 22 STATES, ADDING OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS

HOUSTON – November 12, 2012 – Sadler Law Firm, the national oil and gas law firm based in Houston, has increased its breadth of legal coverage to 22 states, now including Kansas and Oklahoma. D. Bradley Gibbs, J.D., who has been with the Firm for 2 years, is now licensed to practice law in Kansas, and the Firm has hired Laura Liebert Walters, J.D., who is licensed in Oklahoma, to work in their Fort Worth office.

Sadler Law Firm has concentrated on the needs of the oil and gas industry for over thirty years, and over the past several years has strategically focused on cultivating its regional versatility to accommodate the needs of its clients in all major shale plays in the U.S. Sadler now employs more than 80 attorneys including attorneys licensed in Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. In addition, the Firm has satellite offices in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania and Fort Worth, Texas.

D. Bradley Gibbs started his career at Sadler Law Firm in 2010 as a law clerk before being hired as an attorney in 2011. In addition to Kansas, Gibbs is licensed to practice law in Texas, North Dakota, and the US District Court of Kansas. Laura Liebert Walters obtained her law license in 2008. Prior to being hired as an attorney for Sadler Law Firm in 2012, Walters worked in private practice as an Oil and Gas Title Attorney in Oklahoma City and as an Independent Petroleum Landman.

“Our firm is extremely proud of Brad and Laura and we are very pleased that they are enhancing the firm’s ability to represent clients in two additional states. We look forward to the future successes that they will without a doubt have.” – Robert “Doc” Watson, J.D., Assistant Managing Partner of Sadler Law Firm, LLP.
